A Visit to
West Georgia Eye Care Center
A Social Storybook to Help you get Ready for an Eye Exam

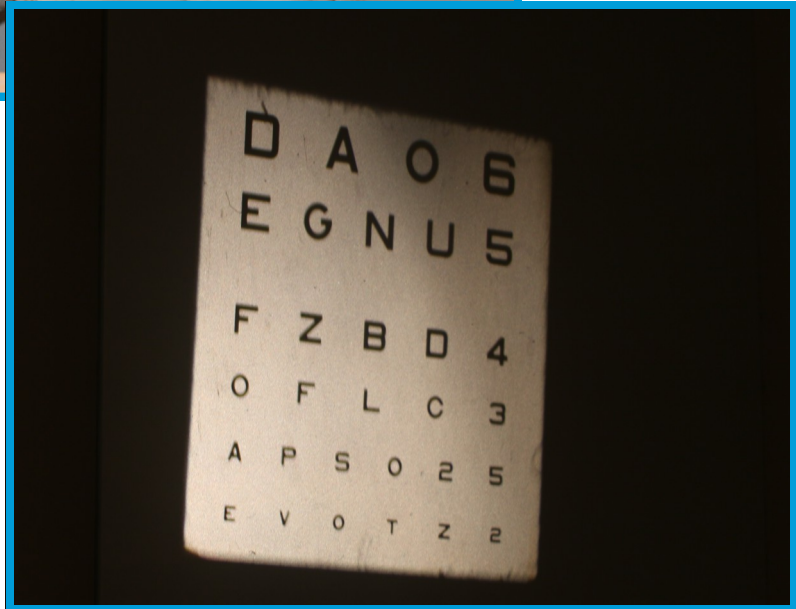

First, you'll see a friendly receptionist at the front desk. She will probably say, "Hello! Welcome to West Georgia Eye Care Center," with a smile. She will help you get checked in and will start your chart for the doctor.

Next, you will sit down in a big waiting room that might have lots of other people waiting, too. Maybe bring your favorite book or game to keep you busy while you're waiting!

A doctor's helper will call your name, and then take you to a room.

You will look at an eye chart.
Can you read it?

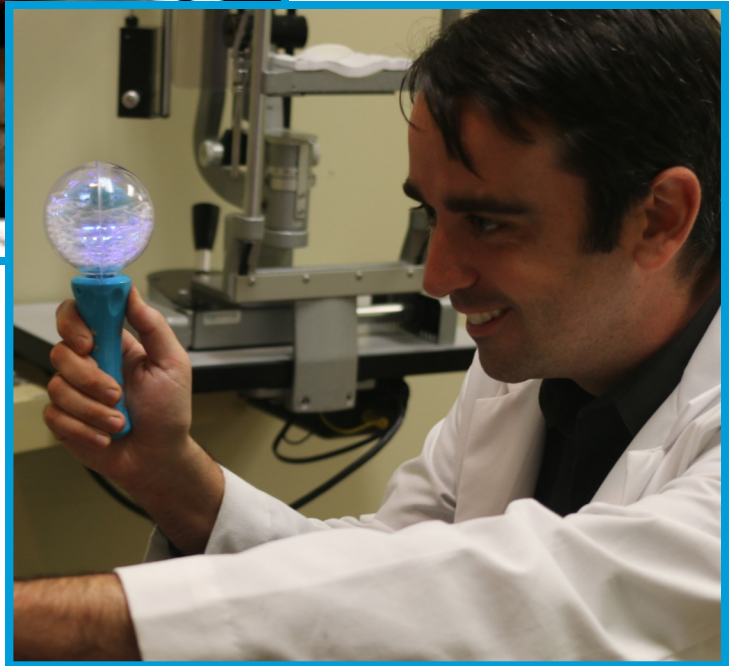

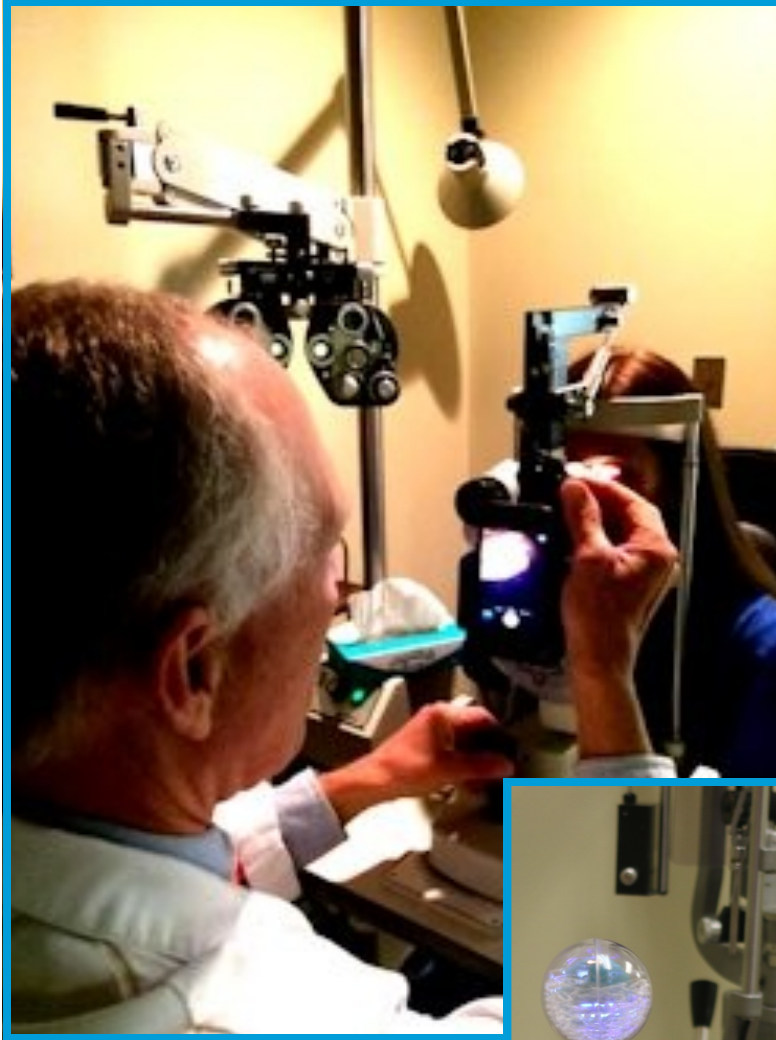

You might need eye drops. It might sting a little, like the feeling you get when you open your eyes in a swimming pool. The sting goes away very quickly.

You will wait again, in a smaller waiting room, for the drops to work. You might notice your vision getting a little blurry. Don't worry, that's normal! Your eyesight will clear up again very soon.

After a few minutes, you'll be called to an exam room to see the eye doctor. The doctor will be friendly and will be wearing a white coat.

The eye doctor shines a bright light to learn about your eyes.

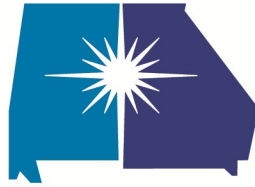

The eye doctor is an expert and is able to help you. Follow the expert advice the doctor gives you!

When the doctor is finished, a friendly receptionist at the back desk will take your chart and get you checked out!

If you do need glasses, someone in the Optical Shop can help you choose a pair you like.
